Daubeney Born 1858; was created Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, 1886. Married, 1886, Eileen Gertrude, daughter of Sir Peter George Fitzgerald, first Baronet.

General Sir HENRY CHARLES BARNSTON DAUBENEY, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Military Division, and Commander of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem in England. Born December 19, 1810, being the eldest surviving son of Lieutenant-General Henry Daubeney, Knight of the Hanoverian Guelphic Order, Colonel 83rd Foot, by Elizabeth his wife, eldest daughter of the Venerable Charles Daubeney, Archdeacon of Sarum; is a Knight of the Legion of Honour; is Colonel 2nd Battalion of the Border (late 55th) Regiment. Clubs—United Service, Junior Carlton, Constitutional. Livery—Blue, piped with scarlet. Armorial bearings used by Sir Henry, and as displayed upon his bookplate, are curious and amusing, for neither Sir Henry nor any member of his family have ever established a right to even the arms which he claims as his paternal coat, and as for the supporters, the only explanation which the Editor can suggest, is that Sir Henry must have granted them to himself. The coat Sir Henry impales for Lady Daubeney is equally without authority. However, as upon his bookplate, Sir Henry bears for Arms: Gules, four fusils conjoined in fesse argent, with the chief of the Order of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem in England, namely gules, a cross argent, embellished in each of the principal angles with a lion guardant, and a unicorn, both passant or, within the ribbon of the Bath bearing the motto "Tria juncta in uno," the wreath of laurel as belonging to the Military Division of the Order, and his collar as a Knight Grand Cross, from which is pendent the badge of the said Order, the badge of the Legion of Honour, the badge of the Order of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem in England, the Crimean medal, with clasps for Alma, Inkerman, and Sevastopol, the Order of the Medjidie, the China medal, and the Turkish medal. Impaling upon a separate escutcheon (for the arms of Carpenter) party per pale or and azure, an eagle displayed counterchanged, both coats upon this escutcheon being surmounted with the chief of the Order of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem in England. The two escutcheons are placed within Supporters, the dexter being a lion proper (described by Sir Henry as the D'Albini lion), and the sinister a Chinese dragon or. The escutcheons are surmounted by the helmet of a knight; and above this are placed upon the dexter side a Badge, namely, two dragon's wings displayed sable, tied together with a golden cord, tasselled at the ends; and on the sinister side a Crest, namely, upon a wreath of the colours, a bunch of holly leaves vert; with the Motto, "Suaviter et fortiter." Married, firstly, April 23, 1840, Amelia, only child of D. S. Liptrap of Southampton; secondly, December 17, 1859, Henrietta Anne, only daughter of Charles Jacomb of Upper Clapton, in the county of Middlesex; and thirdly, 1878, *Eliza, second daughter of the late Charles Carpenter of Brighton. Dilke THE RIGHT HONOURABLE SIR CHARLES WENTWORTH DILKE, Baronet, Member of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Justice of the Peace for the county of Middlesex, Member of Parliament for the Forest of Dean Division of the county of Gloucester, Master of Laws of the University of Cambridge, and Barrister-at-law. Born September 4, 1843, being the eldest son of the late Sir Charles Wentworth Dilke, Baronet, and Member of Parliament for Wallingford, by Mary his wife, daughter of Captain William Chatfield, First Madras Cavalry; and succeeded, May 11, 1869, as second Baronet, to the title created January 22, 1862. Clubs—Reform, Burlington Fine Arts, and many others. Livery—Chocolate brown. Armorial bearings are for Arms: Gules, a lion rampant party per pale argent and or, the arms charged with his badge as a Baronet upon a dexter canton; and for a Crest, upon a wreath of the colours a dove argent, membered gules; with the Mottoes, "Love and honour," "Leo inimicis amicis columba." Married, firstly, January 30, 1872, Katherine Mary Eliza, only daughter of the late Captain Arthur Gore Sheil, who died September 20, 1874; and secondly, October 3, 1885, Emilia Frances, daughter of Major Strong, Honourable East India Company's Service, and widow of the Reverend Mark Pattison, Rector of Lincoln College, Oxford. By his first marriage Sir Charles has Issue—A son and heir, Charles Wentworth Dilke, Esquire, born September 19, 1874. Postal address—76 Sloane Street, London, S.W.

Sir Charles Dilke uses a "Privy Councillor's Cockade." The Editor has never previously heard of such an article, and has yet to learn what it may be like. Debrett's "Peerage," and Debrett's "House of Commons," Dod's "Peerage," and the "Windsor Peerage," all for some inscrutable reason spell the second name of the present Lady Dilke "Francis".

"Debrett," moreover, whilst omitting the Baronet's badge, gives a shield of nine quarterings which in the Peerage are blazoned: "First, gules, a lion rampant per pale argent and or; second, argent, a mullet gules; third, sable a chevron between three leopards' heads or [the illustration shows them as faces, which they really should be if intended for Wentworth]; fourth, argent, a cross gruly and conjoined sable [the Editor has never heard of such a thing]; a cross graded throughout is probably intended]; fifth, paly of six argent and gules, a bend counterchanged sable [the Editor would be glad to learn how the bend can be counterchanged and at the same time sable*—the illustration simply shows it counterchanged]; sixth, gules, on a bend argent, three escallops azure; seventh, paly of six argent and sable, on a bend gules, three mullets argent; eighth, quarterly: argent and gules, on a bend sable, between two frets or, three escallops of the first [the illustration shows it to be quarterly or and gules, &c.]; ninth, ermine two chevrons sable."* Sir Charles Dilke, in his very courteous reply to the Editor's application for information, writes: "We are entitled to bear a great number of quarterings, chiefly as given in Rutton's 'Three Branches of the Family of Wentworth;'" though whether Debrett's illustration is a correct exposition of the escutcheon claimed, the Editor cannot say. No quarterings have been established or recorded at the College of Arms.

SIR GEORGE FLOYD DUCKETT, Baronet, of Hartham House, in the county of Wiltshire, Deputy-Lieutenant and Justice of the Peace for the county of Middlesex. Born March 27, 1811, being the only son of the late Sir George Duckett, Baronet, Member of Parliament for Lymington, by his first wife Isabella, daughter of Stainbank Floyd of Barnard Castle, in the county of Durham ["Dod" says of Shrewsbury], and succeeded in 1836 as third Baronet of the creation of July 28, 1791. Clubs—Travellers,' Oxford and Cambridge. Armorial bearings are for Arms: Sable, a saltire argent, and upon an inescutcheon his badge of Ulster as a Baronet; and for a Crest, upon a wreath of the colours, a garb of lavender vert, flowered azure, banded or; with the Motto, "Je veux le droit." Married, June 21, 1845, Isabella Curwen, daughter of Lieutenant-General Sir Lionel Smith, Baronet, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, and Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order; by his second wife Isabella Curwen, youngest daughter of Eldred Curwen Pottinger, of Mount Pottinger, but has no issue, and there is no heir to the baronetcy. Postal address—Newington House, Wallingford.

In response to the Editor's application for information, Sir George Duckett replied that the arms as given in Burke were quite correct. Consequently the Editor imagines the above spelling of the motto is that adopted by Sir George. It is also so spelt in Foster's "Baronetage;" but Debrett's "Peerage" and the "Windsor Peerage" spell the last word Direct. Burke, Debrett, and the Windsor Peerage all quote for supporters "two parrots vert." Sir George has no right to these or any other supporters. According to Burke, Debrett, Dod, and the Windsor Peerage, Sir George Duckett claims the ancient Barony of Wyndesore, which has been dormant since 1384. The Windsor Peerage, Burke, and Debrett all credit Sir George with an additional Duckett crest, viz., "out of a ducal coronet or, a plume of five ostrich feathers," but none commit themselves as to the tincture of the feathers. The Windsor Peerage and Burke place it first, and Debrett places it second. As a matter of fact, it is of no authority whatsoever, and Foster ignores it. Burke, whilst blazoning it "out of a ducal coronet or, a plume of five ostrich feathers, one, two, and three" (which Macaulay's schoolboy would tell you are usually believed to add up to six), illustrates the plume as five feathers in a row. Burke, moreover, whilst only illustrating the single Duckett coat (sable a saltire argent) with the motto, on crest (out of a ducal coronet a plume of feathers) and the bogus supporters, and in spite of the fact that the armorial bearings recorded at the Heralds' College are as I have quoted them, gives a most elaborate blazon which I append:—

"Arms—Quarterly 1 and 4 sable, a saltire argent, for Duckett; 2 and 3 gules, a fesse, argent, between three shel-drakes proper, for Jackson. The present Baronet also quarters 1. Goldstone, azure, on a fesse, or, between three saltires, argent, an annulet, sable; 2. Duckett, as before; 3. Alderburg, gules, a lion rampant, argent; 4. Windesore, gules, a saltire argent, between twelve cross crosslets, or; 5. Lancastre, argent, two bars, gules, on a canton of the last, a lion passant, or; 6. Redman, gules, three cushions, ermine, two and one, tasselled or; 7. Bellingham, argent, three horns, sable, stringed, gules; 8. Burnishead, argent, three bendlets, gules, on a chief of the last, a lion rampant of the first; 9. Baskerville, argent, a chevron, gules, between three hurts; 10. Skynner, sable, a chevron, or, between three griffins' heads erased, argent; 11. Bingham, azure, a bend, cotised between six crosses, patée, or, quartering ermine, a lion rampant, gules, crowned, or. Crests—1. Duckett, out of a ducal coronet, or, a plume of five ostrich feathers, one, two, and three; a garb of lavender, vert, flowered azure, banded, or; 2. Jackson, a sheldrake, as in arms, on the breast a saltire gules. Motto—'Je veaux le droit.' Supporters—'Two parrots, vert.'"
